State Prohibition Contest — S. W. Grathwell, Winner

The State Intercollegiate Prohibition contest was held Friday night, April 10, in Wood-Mar Hall. First place was awarded to S. W. Grathwell, of P. U., winner of last year's contest, second to R. L. Putnam, of Eugene B. U., and Pacific College's representative, Lisle Hubbard, tied with A. J. Klebe of McMinnville, for third honors. Irvine Acheson represented Albany College, Miss B. E. Magness, Dallas College, Miss Jennie Bailey, Philomath College and F. S. Francis Willamette U. The contest, on the whole, was very close. Lisle Hubbard's oration, "The Flood Tide," led easily in thought and composition, but he received seventh in delivery. Mr. Putnam ranked first in delivery with Mr. Grathwell, and Mr. Acheson tied for second.

Music for the occasion was furnished by the Ladies' Quartet of Eugene who rendered two very pleasing selections, and by a violin solo by Miss Doris Gregory of P. C. A feature of the evening was the splendid yelling and singing by the P. C. students, who livened up the quiet places in the program by rousing college yells and songs. The regular business session of the I. P. A. was held Saturday. Prof. Coe of McMinnville and Pres. Pennington gave addresses in the morning, and in the afternoon Hon. Vergil G. Hinshaw, chairman of the National Prohibition Committee, and Ernest E. Taylor, secretary of the Oregon Committee, gave short talks. An amendment to the constitution, the purpose of which was to prevent a winner in the state contest entering a second time, was voted on but not adopted. An amendment was passed that the entire executive committee of the I. P. A., instead of just the president and secretary, go over the markings of the judges in ascertaining the rank of the contestants. This will lessen the possibility of making mistakes in counting the per cents, as was done in this contest. Mr. Putman was given first place, but it was discovered that an error had been made in counting up the markings.

A banquet was held Saturday noon in the basement of the Friends church, and Pres. Pennington acted as toastmaster. The following responded with toasts: S. W. Grathwell, Prof. Coe, Mrs. Hannon, Prof. Hawkins.

The rankings of the judges in the contest were as follows:

| | Comp. | Delivery | Total | Rk |
|--------------|-------|----------|----------|----|
| | Dyott | Hinson | Grumbell | |
| Pacific U. | 1 | 7 | 2 | 17 |
| Eugene B. U. | 7 | 5 | 4 | 2 |
| Pacific C. | 4 | 2 | 1 | 24 |
| McMinnville | 3 | 1 | 5 | 24 |
| Albany | 8 | 6 | 7 | 28 |

Local Peace Contest

The local tryout to choose a representative for P. C. in the state contest at Portland, April 24, was held Monday evening, April 6, at the college. Emmett Gulley of the Sophomore class was awarded first, and Ellis Pickett of the Junior class took second place. The other contestants were Arthur Benson of the Junior class and Delbert Replogle of the Freshman class. This is Mr. Replogle's first effort along this line and he was at a disadvantage speaking against men who were more experienced. The contest for first and second places was very close. Miss Ruth Hinshaw, Miss Alta Gumm and Miss Lyra Miles each gave a pleasing piano solo. The judges were Pres. Pennington, Rev. Chas. O. Whitely and J. C. Hodson. The winner of the contest, Mr. Gulley, has revised his oration and is sure to make a strong effort for first place in the state contest.

PACIFIC COLLEGE

Pacific College will soon conclude the twenty-second year of its life as a college. The success of this year is in many ways much in advance of that of any recent year. The faculty is stronger, the student body of higher class, the work done by more thorough and enthusiastic, the spirit better and in many other ways the college is doing better work than at any time during the incumbancy of the present president, or the term of office of the present members of the faculty.

Pacific College is a fitting representative of the educational ideas and ideals of the Society of Friends, by the members of which church it was started and by the support of whom it has been in large measure sustained, though others outside this denomination have given it splendid support, which has been greatly appreciated.

In 1891 Pacific College was incorporated, and two years later two young men, who had before the incorporation of the college gone much beyond the work of the high school grade, were graduated, Clarence J. Edwards and Amos C. Stanbrough, superintendent of the Newberg public schools.

Since that time the college has from year to year been graduating young men and women, who are filling places of honor and of real service, from New England to the Pacific coast, as well as on other soil than that of the United States.

Levi T. Pennington was elected to the presidency just following commencement 1911.

The fine new college building had just been completed and the college was taking on new life. Each year has seen substantial advances over the preceding one. The enrollment has increased about 25 per cent, and there has been a much greater gain in some other matters.

Thanks to the earnest efforts of the college board, the faithful and efficient faculty they have employed and the earnestness of the student body, the work of the current year has been of a high grade, a source of deep satisfaction to all the friends of the college. The regular work has been on the average more thoroughly and enthusiastically done than for years previous. And all the extra-curriculum activities have been carried on with marked success.

In athletics the college has made an excellent record. The student body is not of sufficient size to furnish the material for the building of a successful football team. But in basketball the college was very successful, standing second in the Willamette Valley League, and losing the deciding game of the season by a very close score. Prospects are very good for a successful base-

With this issue the new staff assumes its duties. The support which the student body and business men of the town have given during the past has been commendable, and we ask only that this splendid support be continued. The best can be attained only with enthusiastic support. Every student in school can boost.

Something New At a recent student body meeting it was decided to change the form of the Crescent. This change was made on condition that the business men of the city support it. We believe this is a step in the right direction.

The old form was wholly inadequate for the needs of the college, and had been for some time, but no formal step was taken until recently. Of course there are some arguments in favor of the old form. For running stories and such as that, it is far ahead. But for up-to-date "newsy" news, for detailed accounts of athletics and other activities, and especially for the best interest of the advertiser, the new sheet is far better. We believe the business men will support us in the change.

Just a Word We, as a college, are proud of our buildings and campus, but just a word in due season is necessary. To keep our campus and buildings looking neat, every student should be careful not to deface or mar the walls or fixtures of the buildings. We all know there are some splendid artists and sculptors among us, but for some "pesky" fellow to illustrate this by cutting or marking the walls of the buildings, seems out of place. We can also help by not throwing waste paper, etc. Of course it is mostly in thoughtlessness that these things are done, but why not think awhile?

If you like this form of a paper, the editors will not at all feel hurt if you tell them so.

Track Question Again Agitated

The days when, with the first symptoms of spring fever, the peace loving Quaker lads paradoxically divided themselves asunder, and, armed chiefly with heated arguments pro and con respective to track versus baseball, waged battle royal until it was decided on account of the limited number of men that track must succumb to baseball or baseball to track—those days are within the memory of some of the upper classmen, then meek academy students keeping safely behind some immovable object while the irresistible force staged this annual event.

For the past few years a somewhat cold hand of welcome has been extended to track, with waning interest in it as the inevitable result. Not all of the sprint and hurdle enthusiasts however are willing to see the lovers of the national game stalk off unmolested with the spoils of battle, and the present agitation has resulted in the adoption by the athletic association of a motion to again back up track.

The association has not considered it advisable to enter into intercollegiate meets this season, but to get material into line for a strong team the ensuing year.

A committee, with Paul Mills at the head, has been appointed to arrange interclass meets with local teams.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

On the 1st of April occurred the installation of officers for the coming year, 1914-'15, Ellis Pickett taking the chair as president, Emmett Gulley vice president, Paul Lewis secretary and Arthur Benson treasurer. The meeting was led by Miss Kenworthy who spoke on the subject, "What a college woman expects of a college man." The impression which a woman receives of a college man as she enters as Freshman may be very much changed by the time she reaches her Junior or Senior year. One whom she may have considered as especially fine has probably dropped from notice, and the truly worthy character will have found his right place in her estimation. The college woman expects of a college man that he shall be neat in appearance, shall take an interest in college activities and that he shall have a due appreciation of what is worthy in art and literature. On the other hand she does not look down upon him if he has to work and is not able to keep her supplied with flowers and chocolates.

Prof. Lewis was the leader of the Y. M. meeting April 8, the subject being "Testimony." He complimented the men on the improvement which has been made in the singing this year and encouraged them to keep the standard high in this part of the service. He then mentioned some reasons why one should be a Christian, among which were the fact of the immortality of man; because of Christ's life and death; because it is the best and most satisfactory life, and because the world needs Christian men. The meeting was then opened for general participation.

April 15 was a leaderless meeting. After reading a scripture lesson Harry Haworth announced that if any one had a grudge against the Y. M. C. A. they might give it. It was soon plainly evident that no one present had a grudge, judging from the testimonies as to what the Y. M. had done for the men. The increased interest in the association may be judged from the attendance at the meetings, the spirit of the singing and the readiness with which the fellows respond when a meeting is open for general participation, for there is not time for all to take part who would like to do so. These meetings are good for those who speak and for the other fellows as well.

Everyone is going to the Glee Club concert April 28. Don't forget it.

Campus Day

Thursday, April 2, was devoted to cleaning up and beautifying the college campus. The weather was a little uncertain at first, but it turned out to be an ideal day. Faculty and Freshie, old and young, donned jeans and labored diligently until noon, when dinner was served by the ladies on the lawn in front of Canyon Hall. The ladies did not confine their work to the serving of the dinner alone, but also did splendid work on the lawn in front of the college building, and were able to exhibit more blisters than any of the boys. A great deal of work was accomplished, with the result that we will soon have one of the best campuses of any college in Oregon. The day closed with an interesting baseball game between the "Americans" and the "Nationals" in which the former won 3 to 0.

In intercollegiate oratorical contests the college has maintained an excellent standing this year. Of eight colleges in the Intercollegiate Prohibition contest, the markings of the judges on summation of rank showed Pacific College tied for third place, while in the regular Intercollegiate Oratorical League Pacific College stood second, getting first rank in thought in this as in the prohibition contest. And the college has a strong representative for the Peace contest to be held this week in Portland.

A literary society for men and another for women has been maintained with decided success during the year. In addition to these, other excellent literary work has been done for the class publics and through the Crescent, the college publication.

There are many other ways in which the college has maintained a very high standard during the past year. But best of all, the moral and religious life of the college is on a high plane. The Christian associations are doing splendid work, with all of the faculty and all but three of the student body members of these associations. There have been numerous conversions among the students who were not active Christians at the beginning of the year, and a number have been led to see their life work and definitely to dedicate themselves to God for it. There is a Student Volunteer organization of over a dozen, and a goodly number of others are definitely committed to the work of advancing the kingdom at home.

Numerous material improvements have been made in the college. The dormitory has been much improved, both inside and out, the rest of the front of the campus graded and seeded and many other improvements made, thanks to the Ladies' Auxiliary, that indispensable adjunct of the institution. Much of this campus work is due also to the enthusiastic work of the student body. The appearance of the campus has been greatly improved.

Material additions have been made to the endowment fund, which is now the crying need of the school. Pacific College cannot do the work that she ought without a greatly increased endowment. But it is certainly to be confidently expected that those who have for years done the impossible in the maintenance of the college will rally to her support in this, as they are doing, and with the help of other friends of education will make sure the future of the college in her work for the uplift of the Pacific Northwest, in a larger work than has ever been done or perhaps even dreamed.

Miss Joyce George, a former college student who is now nursing in Portland, and her friend Miss McFarland, also of Portland, visited P. C. April 9.

Y. W. C. A.

The first part of the meeting of April 1 was taken up with the installation of the new officers. After this Pres. Pennington told us what a college man expects of a college woman. His talk was very interesting and we learned several things we had wanted to know.

The April 8th meeting was an Easter meeting. The music committee had charge. Henrietta Welch gave a very interesting reading and Mrs. Whitely sang a solo. Both were exceedingly good and we enjoyed them much.

April 15th the girls of the first year academy class under the leadership of Mrs. Hodgkin told what they think is expected of college girls in the community. The prevalent idea was that she should set a good example. Mrs. Hodgkin gave a very helpful and instructive talk on this subject. Her principal thought was that, to make your work and your life count for anything, you must give of yourself.

The girls who attended the Y. W. C. A. conference held at Monmouth, April 3-5, report a very good time. An official report will be given later. Those who attended were, Florence Kaufman, Lyra Miles and Lesta Cook.

The new committee lists have been made out and the girls are ready for more hard work in bettering our association. The interest in this work the past year has been fine, but we want the coming year to show even more improvement than has this past one.

P. C. LOSES TO P. U.

Gulley Twirls Wonderful Ball But Lacks Support—Game Lost
On Errors

Interest reached white heat at Forest Grove April 18 among the small but intensely enthusiastic crowd of fans as the official score-keeper's watch neared 4:20 P. M. It was an iron-clad agreement that the game must end at 4:20 to enable the visitors to catch the last train to Newberg.

At exactly 4:20 the score stood 3 to 3, P. U. at bat with two down in the last of the ninth. For the game to have terminated at this point would have been perfectly legal and not the slightest objection could have been raised to it; however, Capt. Butt is not made of this kind of material. He manifested the spirit of the true sportsman by saying "We'll play it out". The score was risked and lost by one point due to a series of errors by the visitors, but Pacific College gained immensely more by Butt's action than was lost by the one deciding run.

It was evident from the beginning that the game belonged to the Quakers. The Congregation-alists were outclassed in every particular including the ability to make errors, this most lamentable feat costing us the game. The U. boys could not stand up under the withering speed of our big pitcher; 19 strikeouts and two hits allowed by Gulley as compared with six strikeouts and six hits by Patton, showing the teams in about their proper comparison.

Capt. Butt started things off with an easy bunt to pitcher Patton who proceeded to commit his first error as the unoffensive ball went past. Butt then stole second, Vestal struck out, Hinshaw's fly to right was caught and Butt put out on second assisted by right.

Replogle in the second frame made the first run on Gulley's long sacrifice to left. In the third Langworthy made first on an error to right and completed his run on Elliott's single to first. Our third run was made by Butt in the fifth, Vestal's double to right bringing in the run.
